THINGS TO KNOW

NIKKI MASCALI, REPORTER

I love staying in hotels for many reasons, including free bathroom products they provide. While I'm not above taking them home with me, I've often wondered what becomes of all those unused bottles and bars of soap. Well, I got my answer recently when I found out that dozens of city hotels, including the Hotel Hugo in SoHo, participate in Clean the World's soap-recycling program. Find out more about how the initiative not only reduces hotel waste in landfills but also saves lives across the globe on page 4 or at metro.us.

WELCOME TO METRO.US

TRUMP SAYS HIS SON SOUGHT INFORMATION ON

I President Donald Trump acknowledged Sunday that his son met with Russians in 2016 at Trump Tower to get information on his election opponent Hillary Clinton, saying it was "totally legal" and "done all the time in politics." He previously said the meeting was about the adoption of Russian children by Americans. In a tweet, Trump also denied reports in The Washington Post and CNN that he was concerned his eldest son, Donald Trump Jr., could be in legal trouble because of the meeting. He repeated that he had not known about the meeting in advance. "Fake News reporting, a complete fabrication, that I am concerned about the meeting my wonderful son, Donald, had in Trump Tower. This was a meeting to get information on an opponent, totally legal and done all the time in politics - and it went nowhere. I did not know about it!" Trump said. Political campaigns routinely pursue opposition research, but not with foreign representatives from a country viewed as an adversary. Russian officials were under U.S. sanctions at the time.

STEVEN SEAGAL IS OUR 'SPECIAL REP' TO US: RUSSIA

2 Russia's Foreign Ministry said Saturday it had made U.S. actor Steven Seagal its special representative for Russian-U.S. humanitarian ties, a role it said was meant to deepen cultural, art and youth ties between the two countries. President Vladimir Putin presented a Russian passport to Seagal in 2016, saying he hoped it would serve as a symbol of how fractious ties between Moscow and Washington were starting to improve. But since then, U.S.-Russia relations have only worsened, with U.S. intelligence agencies accusing Moscow of interfering in Donald Trump's White House run, an allegation Russia denies. The Russian Foreign Ministry likened Seagal's new role to that of a U.N. goodwill ambassador and said that the actor, who is known for his martial arts prowess, would receive no salary. "It's a case of people's diplomacy intersecting with traditional diplomacy," the ministry said. Seagal, who sometimes appears on Russian state TV to talk about his views and career, was cited by Kremlin-backed TV station RT as welcoming the appointment.

AT LEAST 82 KILLED BY 7.0 QUAKE ON INDONESIA'S LOMBOK, BALI ISLANDS

3 Indonesia's resort island of Lombok was hit by a magnitude 7.0 earthquake Sunday. The powerful quake triggered panic among tourists and residents, and was also felt on the neighboring holiday island of Bali. On Lombok, thousands fled their homes to seek safety in open spaces. Some 82 people were confirmed dead, many from northern and western parts of Lombok according to Agung Pramuja, head of the Disaster Mitigation Agency in the West Nusa Tenggara province, which includes Lombok and neighboring islands but not Bali.

U.S. COURT ORDERS FULL RESTORATION OF DACA

4 A federal judge Friday ruled the Trump administration must fully restore the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program, which protects from deportation some young immigrants who were brought to the United States illegally as children, including accepting new applications for the program. U.S. District Judge John Bates in Washington said he would stay Friday's order, however, until Aug. 23 to give the administration time to decide whether to appeal. Bates first issued a ruling in April ordering the federal government to continue DACA, including taking applications. He stayed that ruling for 90 days to give the government time to better explain why the program should be ended. On Friday, Bates said he would not revise his previous ruling because the arguments of President Donald Trump's administration did not override his concerns. Under DACA, roughly 700,000 young adults, often referred to as "Dreamers," were protected from deportation and given work permits for two-year periods, after which they must reapply to the program.

VENEZUELA ARRESTS SIX OVER DRONE EXPLOSIONS

5 Venezuela's government said Sunday six people had been detained over drone explosions at an event attended by President Nicolas Maduro as his political opposition warned of a possible crackdown after he accused his adversaries of seeking to assassinate him. State TV Saturday showed the socialist leader appearing startled by what seemed to be an explosion while giving a speech in Caracas. One of the six suspects detained had a pending arrest warrant for a 2017 attack on a military base, and a second had been arrested in 2014 for participating in anti-government street protests, Interior Minister Nestor Reverol said. Opposition critics said the government has in the past used such incidents as a pretext for heavy-handed actions against critics, including jailing some of the country's best-known leaders. "We warn that the government is taking advantage of this incident ... to criminalize those who legitimately and democratically oppose it," wrote the Broad Front opposition coalition in a statement published on Twitter.

By recycling discarded soap and shampoo, this organization has helped cut by 35 percent the deaths from hygiene-related illnesses in children.

NIKKI M. MASCALI

One perk of staying in a hotel is the complimentary bathroom products, but have you ever thought about how much waste they create, especially on a one-night stay? Clean the World does, and it's doing something about it.

Florida-based Clean the World not only collects discarded soap and shampoo products, it also prevents millions of deaths each year caused by hygiene-related illnesses all over the world via its soap recycling program.

Since its founding in 2009, "Clean the World has distributed more than 45 million bars of soap to over 127 countries," said Edwin Morales, its marketing and social media coordinator. "It has helped reduce the deaths of children under 5-years-old by 35 percent and also diverted 17 million pounds of waste from landfills."

In the past year, the Clean the World soap recycling effort sent hygiene essentials to refugees in Syria and Lebanon and to victims of hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria.

Among Clean the World participants are 93 New York City hotels, "and they average around 45,000 pounds of soap and bottled amenities per year," Morales said.

Since January, the Hotel Hugo in SoHo has been one of those contributors, and "our staff is really happy to participate," said housekeeping consultant Marcin Gorski. "We were just throwing these things out, so we might as well put them to good use."

How Clean the World does soap recycling

To participate in Clean the World's soap recycling program, hotel staff only has to separate used bars of soap and bottled amenities into bins provided by the organization, which also pays for shipping when they're full.

"There is no extra step," Gorski said, adding that Hotel Hugo ships bottles every two weeks and soaps once a month.

Once the products arrive at Clean the World, they are subjected to "extremely strict health standards."

"Our sterilization process starts with every bar getting a surface cleaning, then dipped in a sterilization solution killing any pathogens that would get passed from skin to skin," said Morales. "After the soap goes through our sterilization process, the soap is then [ground] and reinserted into a soap press which manufactures brand new bars of soap."

IDNYC program now includes children as young as 10

Previously only open to New Yorkers 14 and up, the card is now available for kids between the ages of 10 and 13.

nikki.mascali@metro.us

As of Friday, New Yorkers as young as 10 can now take advantage of the plethora of benefits that come with the city's IDNYC card program, the Mayor's Office of Immigrant Affairs announced.

The government-issued photo identification card program that launched in 2015, was previously only available for residents 14 years old and up, but has now expanded to include children between the ages of 10 and 13 as well.

Previously only open to New Yorkers 14 and up, the IDNYC card is now open to children between the ages of 10 and 13. STOCK

With this expansion, benefits like free museum and zoo memberships and an array of citywide discounts and more will now be accessible for up to 300,000 additional children, officials said.

"IDNYC's accessibility has been key to its success from the very start," said MOIA Commissioner Bitta Mostofi. "More New Yorkers, regardless of immigration status, will be able to demonstrate eligibility for their IDNYC card, opening doors throughout the five boroughs."

In addition to serving as an acceptable photo ID form, IDNYC also gives cardholders access to numerous benefits that include free, one-year memberships to more than 40 of the city's museums, zoos, concert halls, botanical gardens and other cultural institutions.

Doctors Urge Knee Pain Sufferers “Don’t Get ANY Surgery Until You See This...”

After Years Of Intense Study, NYC Medical Clinic Finally Reveals It's Best “Treatment Formula” For Helping Knee Arthritis Sufferers... Especially When So Many Other Treatments Have Failed

NEW YORK CITY - If you are even remotely interested in discovering how the latest scientific discoveries can possibly help your knee pain... then this is going to be the most exciting information you ever read.

Here is why: Knee pain can not only be brutal... it's complex. In other words, it's not a simple, easy fix.

But I'm sure you already know that. Or you wouldn't be reading this.

That's the bad news.

Now for some good news...

Over the years, NYC Pain MD has treated countless knee pain sufferers. And in that time have been able to constantly improve.

And we have come up with a treatment formula that we have found works best and helps the most patients.

This formula has reduced or even eliminated the pain in many. Some were scheduled for knee replacement surgery and felt good enough to cancel their surgery.

It's amazing when patients who were once in excruciating pain... start feeling better. And start walking again. And playing golf. Or tennis. And finally getting their lives back.

Especially when they had gone to other doctors and tried so many other things.

So many had given up hope.

Sound familiar? If it does... check this out...

The Treatment Formula

While I can't give you the entire treatment formula here (there is not enough space and WAY too complicated) I can give you the basics. And more important... I can tell you what it might be able to do for YOU.

The first and most important part of the formula is: PATIENT SELECTION.

This means, NYC Pain MD has a detailed screening process to tell who is most likely to be helped by their treatments... and who is not.

If you qualify, you have the opportunity to move forward and experience the worldclass treatments that NYC Pain MD offers.

If you do not, NYC Pain MD will tell you what they think your best options are and help you find the right doctor for you.

NYC Pain MD “Treatment Formula” A protocol of advanced medical treatments that has already helped thousands.

If you qualify, NYC Pain MD offers some of the most advanced medical treatments available today all using the most advanced imaging technology including:

- Viscosupplementation (gel injections)
- Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP)
- Stem Cell Therapy (Lipogems)
- Genicular Knee Block
- And more.

Once again, there is not enough space to go into detail about all these procedures... but here are some things you MUST KNOW....

Viscosupplementation is where a doctor introduces a gel-like medicine directly into the joint space. This helps to lubricate the joints often relieving some, most or even all of your pain. Results can last for 6 months to several years.

Many have had these treatments without good results. However, NYC Pain MD feels this is because doctors often do these “gel injections” without advanced imaging to guide them. Research shows they will often miss the joint. If the joint is missed... it is impossible for the treatment to work.

NYC Pain MD has spared no expense and used advanced imaging to guide the injections assuring the medicine gets into the joint. We frequently get results when this treatment was a failure done elsewhere.

The second thing you must know is... our treatment plans are custom made for every patient. And we have all these treatments offered in the same place. Many times you will get the best results from multiple treatments. At NYC Pain MD your doctors will all be there and will all know each other and you and your case. They work together and give you the best treatments and care without you having to go anywhere else.

The ability to select the right patients and then have the potential to give them any or all of these treatments... with all the necessary medical technology... under one roof... has allowed NYC Pain MD to get better results than they thought possible.

Here's What You Should Do Next

If you suffer with knee pain... and any of this made sense to you... NYC Pain MD would like to offer you a No-cost screening. That screening is the first step in our “Treatment Formula.”

You will get to see a doctor and ask any questions you have. Your doctor will take the first steps to see if you qualify for treatments and give you recommendations.

The best thing is... you will finally get direction. You will know what's going on and what is your best course of action... step-by-step. The treatments will be explained in detail and you will breathe a big sigh of relief finally knowing what's going on and what can or cannot be done.

There is so much we want to say to help you... but I'm out of space. Give us a call at 877-296-6310 and take the first step. That step is free without obligation.

Take a bite out of chocolate sweetness in the Big Apple next month. THE BIG

Sweet! The Big Chocolate Show returns to NYC in September

The city will get a lot more decadent when the three-day event dedicated to all things chocolate takes over the Wyndham New Yorker Hotel.

 nikki.mascali@metro.us

The Big Chocolate Show is not just a clever name, it actually is a big — like, really big — three-day show dedicated to all things chocolate. Good news! It's coming back to New York City for the third year in a row next month.

The Big Chocolate Show will take place Friday, Sept. 28 through Sunday, Sept. 30 at The Wyndham New Yorker Hotel. More than 200 chocolatiers, artisans, chefs, authors, purveyors and experts from all across the globe will be in attendance, offering chocolate tastings, demonstrations, book signings, master-tasting classes and more.

"Whether it's enjoying the health benefits of dark chocolate's antioxidants, learning to pair whiskey and chocolate, having a front row seat to a private pastry arts class, witnessing a chocolate confection being made on a 3-D printer or satisfying your inner chocoholic, we're thrilled to offer our guests new chocolate experiences that wow their minds and palettes this year," show producer Matthew Saravay said. "The Big Chocolate Show continues to grow, not only in size, but in the countless ways the cacao bean transforms itself into a thing of beauty and taste."

On Sept. 29 from 8-10 p.m., The Cocktail Guru will host a two-hour walk-around unlimited tasting of chocolate-friendly liquor brands paired with dishes and desserts made by city-based chocolatiers and chefs.

The Big Chocolate Show also offers a wide-range of classes and demonstrations, including how to perfect pairing wine and whiskey with chocolate, learning about 3-D chocolate printing, and indoor s'mores workshop, cooking with cacao and much more.

As if the Big Chocolate Show is not sweet enough, the family-friendly event will also include an adults-only area for those 21-and-up to "explore the cocktail side of cacao" with unlimited samples of wine, beer and spirits.

Day, individual session passes and an all-access weekend pass available. Visit bigchocolateshow.com for all ticket options and complete info.

MISSING CHINESE GIRL

Missing girl found safe in Queens: police

A 12-year-old Chinese girl who went missing from Washington's Ronald Reagan National Airport has been found with her parents in Queens, authorities said on Friday.

The FBI has taken the lead on the investigation, but it's not immediately clear what the focus of the probe is and whether an abduction actually occurred.

Jinjing Ma had arrived at Reagan National on Thursday with a tour group.

Ma was last seen leaving the airport with this woman after changing her clothes.

The pair left the airport in a white Infiniti, driven by an unidentified Asian man.

Police say Jinjing had been traveling in the U.S. for the past week with a tour group. Authorities say two individuals approached the girl when her tour group was visiting the World Trade Center in New York. It's unclear if that couple was the same as the pair she was last seen leaving with in Washington, but police believe the two events are related. REUTERS

No easy path to curing opioid crisis, say recovered addicts

Former addicts share stories of how medication-assisted treatment helped lead them to recovery.

sam.newhouse@metro.us

Opioid addiction recovery may seem impossible, as the crisis sweeping America has only been worsened by the stigma of addiction. But addicts who have recovered and been able to return to leading productive lives say that a cure is possible and fellow addicts need time and support, not to be labeled as dangerous "junkies."

"It's very difficult for people to want to come out and say stuff when there's this immediate backlash," said Eric Dyer, 27, a painkiller addict who has been in recovery for about six years and now works as an attorney in upstate New York. "The only way to reduce the stigma is to have people share their story and be open about it."

Dyer, of upstate New York, started smoking marijuana and drinking heavily as a teenager, but by age 18 had become addicted to opiates.

"Opioids had a unique effect because it was everything I could have ever wanted in any type of feeling and it was given to me in this small pill," he said. "Once the physical addiction took over, a lot more of the principles I was brought up with started to go by the wayside, because the only priority, the only thing on my mind was opiates."

Dyer was 21 when his then-girlfriend discovered his stash of painkillers, flushed them down the toilet and contacted his family for help pushing him into rehab. It was a process the family was familiar with, since Dyer's father had also struggled with addiction and recovered from it.

In rehab, Dyer connected his success with using Vivitrol, a once-a-month injection of naltrexone. Gradually the medication helped him return to a mental state of feeling 'okay,' before he eventually went on to finish college and law school.

But he called his situation — with a supportive family and health insurance — "incredibly unique." For many other opioid users without that support, he acknowledged getting to the physical and mental state that allows for ongoing sobriety can be seemingly impossible.

"The access to on-demand treatment is just not there," he said. "If you could take somebody using on the street and not only get them

Meagan Kenney, 33, who is in recovery from heroin and fentanyl addiction, described herself as someone who survived as a "functioning addict" for years who could continue to hold down a job. But since getting clean, she said she has recovered a level of enjoyment in day-to-day-life she no longer thought possible.

"The reason I share my story is I want people to not lose hope. Even when you don't recognize yourself anymore, that person is still there," said Kenney, who has been sober for six years and now works as an addiction therapist. "I'm a firm believer in neuroplasticity."

Vivitrol in 2012 after meeting another former user who had used Vivitrol to get clean. She said the nature of the monthly shot helped her break her daily routine of drug use.

"Vivitrol allowed me, without having a derailing opioid relapse, to start to repair the holes in my soul that led to my addiction in the first place and really putting in that work that went way beyond it to a spiritual growth," Kenney said. "I just desperately wanted to put this addiction behind me and get back to my life that I hadn't seen in years."

Kenney, whose father had been an addict as well, said therapy was key to her success, getting to the root of childhood depression, social anxiety and other problems that drove her to use drugs.

"When it finally clicked — it was really just like the biggest relief," she said. "It was like the weight of the world fell off my shoulders. All I had to do was show up for this shot. Not the full-time job of being a drug addict."

Vivitrol is just one of several treatment options, a form of naltrexone, which along with bupenorphine and methadone are the most commonly prescribed opioid addiction medications. (Sublocade is a recently approved once-a-month form of bupenorphine).

The scientific data doesn't really indicate that any one drug is a clear winner. It really comes down to what drug is a good fit for the particular person," said Dr. Ben Nordstrom, CEO of Phoenix House, a recovery program that treats some 12,000 patients at more than 100 programs across the country, including in New York and Massachusetts. "The person has to want to take them, want to learn new skills, and apply those lessons learned to their lives on a daily basis and carry that forward, because we know that relapse is very much a part of this. They need to know that's not cause to give up hope or to think treatment has somehow failed them."

In Philadelphia, where some neighborhoods are inhabited by large populations of homeless drug users, a new $1 million Pennsylvania Coordinated Medication Assisted Treatment (PAC-MAT) grant, part of $3 million in funds awarded by Gov. Wolf around the state, will go to the Temple Center for Population Health to broaden the reach of medication-assisted treatment.

"We have to give them reasons to stay in recovery," Nordstrom said. "People do best when they have something to gain and something to lose. When people have neither, it's very difficult for them to see a reason to do anything different."

Lakeith Stanfield to star in film version of 'Prince of Cats'

The "Atlanta" actor will play the lead in the adaptation of the graphic novel, a reimagining of "Romeo & Juliet" set in 1980s Brooklyn.

Lakeith Stanfield has been all over the big (and small) screen lately. From "Atlanta" to "Get Out" to "Sorry to Bother You," Stanfield has been busy — and he has another lead role in the works for a movie adaptation of "Prince of Cats," a reimagining of "Romeo and Juliet" set in Brooklyn.

Deadline reported the news that Stanfield will star in the graphic-novel movie adaptation, for which Legendary Entertainment won an auction for the feature rights.

Here's what we know about the project so far.

What is "Prince of Cats: A Brooklyn Rocomes relatable thanks to the Brooklyn scenery in "Prince of Cats."

In one scene, according to NPR, Juliet describes her view from the top of the Coney Island Ferris wheel.

What we know about the "Prince of Cats" movie with Lakeith Stanfield Stanfield has been tapped to play Tybalt, according to Deadline.

"Prince of Cats" will be adapted to the screen by Selwyn Seyfu Hinds, a producer, writer and previous editor of The Source, a New York-based magazine covering hip hop, sports and entertainment.

Jon Silk — a producer behind movies like "Terminator Salvation," "It" and "Gangster Squad" — brought the novel remake to Legendary Entertainment, according to Deadline, and is overseeing the project with Ali Mendes, who has worked on "Godzilla: King of the Monsters" and "Black Swan."

A director has not been announced.

We've all done the sidewalk "two-step": You're walking on the sidewalk and someone is walking towards you and you both do the two-step to avoid walking into each other. I figure the rule of thumb, in the USA anyway, is to stay to the right just as you would if you were driving down the street. So when walking down the sidewalk if we all just stay to the right we could avoid the awkward two-step. The escalator is another issue. In Europe there are signs posted to be read while you're on the escalator "standing stay to the right and walking/passing on the left" or something like that. Some people like me walk up the escalator, although if I'm feeling particularly lazy I'll stand and enjoy the ride. But why make everyone behind me wait if they want to walk up the escalator by standing on the left side?

LEANING ON SUBWAY POLES

Can people stop leaning on the subway poles when other people are trying to hold on to it? Reason people hold on to the pole is so they don't do a faceplant to the floor when the train stops or bump into other people. I had an incident when I was trying to hold on the pole and the person had the nerve to yell at me to go to another pole. When did it become your pole when you lean on it? Also when someone says excuses me it does not mean to still lean on the pole, but move up or down an inch so someone can hold it. Look around you, get off your phone, and pay attention to your surroundings and just be considerate and stop leaning on the subway poles!

Union Square's popular food hall has become a private event space, taking its Instagram-famous cream-filled croissants with it.

Union Square's popular food hall Union Fare is no more. Its last day as a public food hall was Friday, Aug. 3, and it is now closed for conversion into a private event space.

Instead of a collection of restaurants, the self-proclaimed gastrohall was made up of various "contemporary American cuisine" stations like poke, Italian food, charcuterie and seafood, each with its own chef. Customers found out about Union Fare's closing from jacent food hall opened in June 2016, taking over the former Barnes & Noble at 6 E. 18th St. As well as its various food stations, Union Fare also included a restaurant, a cafe by day/wine bar by night and private dining rooms in the basement, spanning more than 50,000 square feet.

everything spice became a major trend this year.

The Union Fare team announced it would open a second food hall on the West Side right next to the 28th Street entrance to the High Line in Fall 2017. That location never opened.

Whatever the cause for the switch in restaurant concepts, New York City's food hall trend shows no sign of cooling. Here are the new food halls that have opened within the last year or so: North 3rd Street Market in Williamsburg, Urbanspace at 570 Lex in Midtown, Canal Street Market in Chinatown, Dekalb Market Hall in Downtown Brooklyn and City Acres Market in the Financial District.

Still to come are food halls by Jean-Georges Vongerichten at the Seaport District and a Spanish food hall called Mercado by renowned humanitarian chef Jose Andres at Hudson Yards.

NYC Doctors Urge Back Pain Sufferers

Read This Before Having Surgery or Using Opioid Drugs

Modern Treatment stands to free thousands of New York Area pain sufferers from reduced mobility, stress and poor quality of life. Treatment may help avoid surgery or overuse of dangerous medication.

NEW YORK CITY - If you are interested in relieving back pain or neck pain, getting back to basic daily activities without discomfort and having more energy, than this this will be the most exciting message you ever read.

Here is why:

There is a medical clinic in New York City called NYC Pain MD. Actually two of them... in different parts of the city. I'm not sure... but if I'm right... you may want to call them after reading this. If so, their phone number 877-278-8980.

Here's What This Is All About

The doctors at NYC Pain MD have made a discovery of sorts. It's not a discovery as in they invented something brand new. It's a discovery about when and how they apply certain back pain treatments... that they have fine tuned... and perfected to get better results than they ever thought possible.

Countless patients are living proof. And check this out: What NYC Pain MD doc's actually use is called an "algorithm"... a special step-by-step formula starting with proper evaluation so you make sure to leap frog or bypass treatments that won't work... and find the ones that will work best for you in a little time as possible. Less trial and failure means better quicker results for the pain sufferer.

Now, you may have even heard about many these treatments. But here's one I bet you may have never heard of... that might help you... and it's not an "epidural".

This treatment is called: "Radiofrequency Neurotomy." RF for short. RF is a procedure that is based on the theory that blocking the nerve supply to the painful area may alleviate pain and restore function.

There are many nerves around your back or neck and one of their jobs is to sense PAIN.

Radiofrequency waves are delivered to these nerves under advanced precision medical imaging to target the damaged areas... done right in their own clinic without intimidating, expensive hospitals or surgical center... to "block" the painful nerve flow.

Two steps in the formula are performed. First, a test or diagnostic "Block" procedure is done to determine if the procedure is going to decrease pain and improve function. If this first "test" procedure is successful, RF Neurotomy or "Radiofrequency" will be performed for longer term relief.

NOT just the Treatment alone that is the key ingredient

You see, the real secret is the formula. And that again starts with a proper screening evaluation to determine if you are a good candidate and may achieve the results you are looking forward to. This is always Step number one.

And the best part about this screening is... It's FREE

This screening will give you so much relief just knowing what is going on... and what your best options are.

That's right. NYC Pain MD offers this first step screening at no cost to patients. The only problem is... they often get over 100 inquiries a day as they also treat almost every painful area and joint. Sometimes its hard to get through. If you don't get through to someone when you call... keep calling... or leave a message... it will be well worth it.

But that's just the first step

After your free screening, if you qualify, the doctors will discuss the best treatment plan for you in a way that you can understand completely. Not all complex "doctor talk"...

This may be one... or a combination of the advanced medical treatments offered at NYC Pain MD.

Everything will be explained and all your questions will be answered. And even better:

You will be given all this At NO COST. NYC Pain MD doc's are not like used car salesman. They will not be giving you a sales pitch. They are doctors and will give you the best possible options to help your pain and offer to help you the best way they can. In fact, with up to 100 inquiries a day from patient's looking for relief, it's often hard to even get a treatment spot.

You should also know this: While NYC Pain MD cannot help everyone... so many have gotten the pain relief they were looking for.

New Techniques May Replace Medications Or Even Surgery: Innovative treatment is now available at NYC Pain MD. Many are seeing dramatic relief for the first time.

One of the reasons they offer those first step free screenings, is because it has opened the door to so many people to get help that they never would have otherwise.

At the very least, you will finally have some direction and a plan. And... whether you have the best, worst or no insurance at all, NYC Pain MD programs can be made affordable to everyone

They do not want insurance issues... or not being rich or famous... to keep you away if you are suffering in pain.

There is a whole lot more I could say about their treatments etc... but this space is limited and that's best left for you and the doctors to discuss in person.

So...if you are even remotely interested ... take the a first step and give them a call at 877-278-8980 and ask for your free screening.

How To Schedule Your Risk-Free No-Obligation Screening Evaluation

When you call, tell the scheduling experts you are calling for the special "No Obligation Back Pain Screening Program". They will know exactly what you need to do and will find the next available and convenient spot in our in our schedule. So again, just call 877-278-8980. The lines get very busy so if you do not get a live scheduling coordinator, make sure to leave your name, number and time of your call on our voicemail. They will get back to you as soon as possible. Again, the number to call is 877-278-8980.

Back to the drawing board with Jennifer Yuh Nelson

The dystopian drama "The Darkest Minds" marks the actress' live-action debut.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
Gregory.Wakeman@metro.us

You might not know the name Jennifer Yuh Nelson, but you've definitely seen her work. Well, at least your children have. Not only was she a story artist for "Madagascar" and head of story for "Kung Fu Panda," but she also directed "Kung Fu Panda 2" and "Kung Fu Panda 3." Having spent the bulk of her career in animation, she soon set her sights on live-action.

With Alexandra Bracken's novel "The Darkest Minds," which is set in a dystopian America where a pandemic has killed 98 percent of the children under 20 and the remaining 2 percent have developed mysterious psychic powers that lead to their internment, Nelson saw the perfect opportunity to mold her cinematic sensibilities with her ambition. We chatted with her about transitioning to live-action.

What did you want to explore with live-action?
I have always thought of live-action, even when I was dreaming up movies in my head as a kid, it was live-action that I was seeing. But animation was great training for me because as a storyboard artist in animation, you are able to storyboard everything. It is not just action, which they tend to do in live-action. But as a storyboard artist, you are part writer, part artist, part character development, basically you are coming up with the basic bones of the character and the film while drawing it. But that was really great. But the issue was that I just always had this image of a live-action movie in my head and I wanted to push the boundaries of the genre.

"The Darkest Minds" is now in theaters.
20TH CENTURY FOX

What did you want to bring from the animation world into live-action?
With animation you have to plan so far ahead. You can't just hope for the best and shoot whatever. You have to know what you want, because each frame is so expensive to get. I had a lot of planning before we got on set of "The Darkest Minds," because since I could draw, and I am a story-board artist myself, I could actually sit and doodle the things I needed to get that day and sit with the DP and AD and script supervisor. We could all get what we wanted. That sort of thing, people have said it is sometimes hard to know what a director wants because they have to read the tea leaves a little bit. If a director can whip out a piece of paper that says this is what we are going to get, it makes things a whole lot easier. It made for a relaxing shoot.

"The Darkest Minds" is now in theaters.

With the Viagra Patent About to Expire, a New Sex Pill Takes the Spotlight

A patented pill costing less than $1 a dose stands to help millions of men with failing sex lives; no prescription will be required

By Ray Wilson
Associated Health Press

AHP – A new sex pill is set to take the spotlight with the Viagra patent about to expire. But unlike the former, it won't require a prescription and is priced just under a $1 a dose.

The new pill called Vesele is part of a new class of performance enhancers for men, which work instantaneously on the body and mind triggering arousal and firmer, harder erections.

Formulated with a special compound known as an "accelerator", Vesele can transport its active ingredients faster and more efficiently into the blood stream, where it begins to work its magic.

The patented ingredient blend initiates a process known as vasodilation, which causes arteries and vessels throughout the body to expand. This allows blood to flow directly to penis and genitals, resulting in harder erections which last longer. Cialis and Viagra are based around a similar concept.

But what makes Vesele so remarkable, and what these other sex pills can't do, is that also directs a small portion of this blood flow to the brain, which creates feelings of intense arousal. In laymen's terms, users become incredibly excited and turned on.

This is why the makers of Vesele say their pill has worked so effectively in clinical trials. It stimulates the two most important organs for great sex, the penis and the brain.

The Brain Erection Connection

Until now, medical researchers did not fully understand the brain-erection connection. It has now been made clear with Vesele. When both are supplied with a constant blood flow, men are harder and firmer for longer...and have unbelievable sex drives.

"Most of the research and treatment methods for men's sexual failures have focused on physiological factors and have neglected the emotional ones. For the leading sex drugs to work, like Cialis and Viagra, you need visual stimulation" explains Dr. Henry Esber, the creator of Vesele.

"And although they work for some men, the majority experience absolutely no fulfillment during sex."

According to research published by the National Institute of Health, 50% of men taking these drugs stop responding or can't tolerate their side effects...and on top of that they spend $50 per pill and it doesn't even work half the time.

This is what makes Vesele so different and effective. It floods the blood stream with key ingredients which cause arteries all over the body to expand. The patented accelerator speeds up this process even more.

The result is a rush of blood flow to the penis and brain, helping to create an impressive erection and a surging desire for sex. Often, this is all men need to get going. And when taken regularly, many men say they are energized and aroused all day."

Great Sex At Any Age

With the conclusion of their latest human clinical use survey trial, Dr. Esber and his team are now offering Vesele in the US. And regardless of the market, its sales are exploding.

Men across the country are eager to get their hands on the new pill and according to the research, they should be.

In the trial above, as compared to baseline, men taking Vesele saw a staggering 85% improvement in erection hardness over a four-month period. Their erections also lasted twice as long.

These same men also experienced an astounding 82% increase in the desire for sex (libido/sex drive) and an even greater improvement in overall satisfaction and ability to satisfy their partners.

Many men taking Vesele described feeling horny and aroused through the day. The anticipation before sex was amazing. They were also easily turned on. Their moods were more upbeat and positive, too.

Faster Absorption into the Blood Stream

Vesele is made up of three specialized ingredients: two clinical strength vasodilators and a patented absorption enhancer often called an accelerator. According to an enormous amount of clinical data, each is very safe.

Research shows that with age, many men lose their desire and interest in sex. They also struggle to produce an erection firm enough for penetration.

And although there are many theories as to why this happens (including a loss in testosterone) one thing is certain, inadequate blood flow is virtually always to blame. That's why sex drug manufacturers focus on blood flow, it makes your erection hard.

But what's more surprising, and what these manufacturers have failed to consider, is that lack of blood flow can also kill your sex drive. That's because blood supplies energy for the brain. This energy is required for creating brainwaves that cause excitability and arousal.

Studies show the Vesele stimulates the entire cardiovascular system, including the arteries that lead to both the brain and penis. The extreme concentration of the ingredients combined with the accelerator ensures that this process starts quickly.

The sexual benefits of Vesele are also multiplied

Expiring Patent Opens the Door to a New Sex Pill: Vesele is a new pill that cost just $1 a dose does not require a prescription. It works on both body and mind to increase arousal and erection hardness.

as its ingredients build up in the system over time. This is why many men take it every single day.

Recent Studies Show Positive Effects on Women

In the same study referenced throughout, Vesele was also shown to have an amazing (and somewhat surprising) effect on women too. That's because the same arteries and vessels that carry blood and oxygen to the brain and genitals are the same in men and women.

"In our most recent study, women taking Vesele saw a stunning 52% improvement in arousal and sex drive. Perhaps more impressive, they also experienced a 57% improvement in lubrication.

You can imagine why some couples are taking Vesele together. Everything feels better. Everything works better. Everyone performs better. It's truly amazing."

A New Frontier of Non-Prescription Sex Pills

With daily use, Vesele is helping men (and women) restore failing sex lives and overcome sexual lets downs without side effect or expense.

Through a patented absorption enhancer, the Vesele formula hits the bloodstream quickly, resulting in phenomenal improvements in erection firmness and hardness. By boosting blood flow to the brain, users also experience sexual urges and arousal they often haven't felt in years.

What to expect from 'Better Call Saul' season 4

AMC's popular "Breaking Bad" prequel may soon be venturing into familiar territory.

letters@metro.us

While Vince Gilligan's "Breaking Bad" remains one of the best television dramas of the past decade, the prequel series "Better Call Saul" is fast approaching its very own pedestal. That's because the spin-off all about how Jimmy McGill becomes Saul Goodman (Bob Odenkirk), the attorney for criminals who helped build Walter White's (Bryan Cranston) drug empire, is just as great.

On Monday, the fourth season for Gilligan and co-creator Peter Gould's show, which started six years before "Breaking Bad," finds the Jimmy mourning the death of his brother, Chuck McGill (Michael McKean), while struggling to find work as an unemployed and disgraced lawyer. There are still a few years left to go before he transforms into the man viewers first met in 2009, but judging by what we know about season four, it will happen very soon.

The show will enter the "Breaking Bad" timeline

In a special issue of Entertainment Weekly commemorating the 10th anniversary of "Breaking Bad," Gilligan revealed that "Better Call Saul" season four will finally crossover with the other series' timeline. "I picture two giant circles moving together, converging into an ever-largening Venn diagram, and that Venn diagram represents the overlap," he said. "That area of overlap is getting larger and larger."

"Better Call Saul" returns Monday night at 9 p.m. on AMC. AMC

But will we see Walter or Jesse?

Gould has previously warned, though, that season four is "still a few years out from Walter White," but that doesn't mean the new season will totally avoid any and all reference to him or his eventual partner in crime, Jesse Pinkman (Aaron Paul). Fans have been hoping for a cameo by either character since "Better Call Saul" first premiered, and while the potential for such an occurrence has always been there, it has never been as strong as it is now.

Cranston visited the set while Gilligan and company were filming season three, setting off a flurry of rumors about White's arrival on the "Better Call Saul" scene. The actor was simply visiting, of course, but the co-creator took notice of the buzz. He told Entertainment Weekly that he "desperately" wanted to see Walter and Jesse in the show, as did everyone else. "Peter wants it, the writers do, the actors do," he added.

How to stand out on the Common Application

The popular college application is accepted by hundreds of schools across the country and was just released on Aug. 1.

patrick.king@metro.us

While recent high school graduates are preparing for the new challenges of college, juniors are starting the college-application process.

The official starting bell for applications rings every year on Aug. 1, as the Common Application is released to students across the country. This online application partners with hundreds of schools to make the process easier for students and their families to apply to multiple schools.

We spoke with Casey Neal, the senior director of higher education admissions-counseling service Collegewise, about how students can make their Common Application stand out to admissions officers.

Show off your personality

Neal says students should pay close attention to the Activities portion of the Common Application. She says many applicants choose to merely submit lists of sports and other extracurriculars they were involved in and don't take the opportunity to paint a more vibrant picture for admissions offices.

"Usually, students see the essay section and think that's the only place where they can share their voice, but the Activity section is the most-overlooked one," explains Neal.

"It only allows you 150 characters to describe each activity that you do. Which for most kids feel is pretty stifling — and it is! But there are a lot of ways that you can use that space effectively."

For instance, if you did not play soccer but supported your friends on the team, you can show just how kind and supportive a person you are in the space provided even though it's not what you'd consider a conventional activity.

"It's much more interesting for me to hear things like 'loyal bench warmer,' 'always got water for friends,' 'cheers the loudest' or 'loves the game.' That gives me a sense of that's why you do it," explains Neal. "That's why you're there. You're not being recruited for soccer, but you clearly make an impact in your own way."

Take advantage of optional essays

Many schools will offer an optional essay on their section of the Common Application. Students should use this opportunity to really make themselves stand out.

Even though the Common Application gives you the ability to apply to several schools at a time, this can be a double-edged sword for many students. Neal believes that these essay sections should be treated like litmus tests for students to see if they really are a good fit or not.

"You shouldn't have to reverse engineer yourself to the school," say Neal. "This supplement is their way of saying, 'This is the kind of kid we love.'

"Columbia is a great example. They ask, 'What plays, shows and exhibits have you been to in the last year?' If a kid only says that they went to go see a Justin Bieber concert, they are probably not really the fit for a school that's in Manhattan and for a school that is looking for someone who will thrive in an urban environment."

The Common Application is available for students to download now at commonapp.org. If you need more help filling out the application, connect with a Collegewise adviser.

The Giants and their star receiver are finally talking about a long-term contract extension.

joseph.pantorno@metro.us

After what has been a roller coaster of an off-season, the New York Giants and star wide receiver Odell Beckham Jr. are finally talking about a long-term contract extension, as first reported by ESPN's Jordan Raanan.

Talks began earlier this week between the parties with the hope being that they can hammer out a deal before the start of the 2018 regular season.

Beckham will be playing under the final year of his rookie contract before hitting free agency should

Predicting Odell's Deal

Odell Beckham Jr. GETTY IMAGES

a new deal not struck. The fifth-year option will pay him $8.5 million.

It's a number far from the 25-year-old's expectations as he brashly claimed last year that he wanted to be the highest paid player in football.

However, there was a moment during the off-season where it looked like the Giants wanted to completely wipe their hands clean of him.

After an ankle injury limited his 2017 season to just four games, his continuous antics both on and off the field looked to have ownership's patience wearing thin. Shortly following a threat that he would hold out if he wasn't given a long-term contract extension, Beckham found his name in trade talks as the Giants reportedly discussed a deal with the Los Angeles Rams to ship the LSU alum out of town.

It would have been an unceremonious end for a receiver who has had a Hall-of-Fame-like start to his career. During his first three full seasons in the league, Beckham accrued 4,122 receiving yards and 35 touchdowns. No other wide receiver in NFL history has put up that many yards during the first three years of their career.

Regardless, it wasn't enough for Giants owner John Mara to commit to Beckham. Especially because the new regime of general manager Dave Gentleman and head coach Pat Shurmur was on its way in.

But Beckham has done everything asked and expected of him as he attended offseason work-out programs, OTAs and minicamp while building a strong relationship with Shurmur.

With the Giants seemingly all-in on their star once again, what kind of contract could Beckham be looking at?

Odell Beckham Jr. contract prediction

When attempting to predict Beckham's new deal with the Giants, one has to look at other big-name wide receivers around the league.

It is expected that he could sign a deal similar to that of Pittsburgh Steelers star Antonio Brown and Tampa Bay Buccaneers pass catcher Mike Evans. Brown is making an average of $17 million until 2021 while Evans is not too far behind with $16.5 million per year, but a whopping $55 million of his $82.5 million over five years is guaranteed.

Minnesota Vikings wide receiver Stefon Diggs, who is one of the better receivers in the game but not necessarily on Beckham's level, also helped set the market earlier this summer when he inked a five-year, $72 million deal.

Diggs, who is a year younger than Beckham, recently completed his third year in the NFL where he has accrued almost 1,700 fewer yards than Beckham posted in his first three years in the league and 20 fewer touchdowns.

That means Beckham should make a bit more than Diggs, but I wouldn't expect him to make as much as Brown after playing in just four games last year.

Contract prediction: 6 years, $96 million ($16 million per year)

Should Knicks go after Kevin Durant?

One of the NBA's most controversial stars, Golden State Warriors forward Kevin Durant, has made plenty of enemies since joining the two-time defending NBA champions in free agency from the Oklahoma City Thunder during the summer of 2016. While he attempts to perform under the moniker of one of the league's "bad boys," there's no doubt that he has helped Golden State reach another stratosphere of domination.

The nine-time All-Star, 2014 league MVP and two-time NBA Finals MVP has created an all-time collaboration with Stephen Curry and Klay Thompson, averaging 25.7 points and 7.5 rebounds per game in two years with the Warriors.

This summer though, with his contract up, he took a one-plus-one deal to remain a Warrior for the 2018-19 season where he'll make $30 million. He has a player option for the following season in which he's expected to make $31.5 million, but he probably won't take it.

Not because he's going to leave the Warriors. There is a good chance that isn't going to happen. But Durant, who turns 30 next month, will be looking to secure a long-term deal that he can likely finish his career on.

Just looking at the past two seasons, there is little incentive as to why Durant would want to leave Golden State. The franchise has become one of the greatest in NBA history, winning three titles over the past four years while looking poised to take a fourth in 2018-19 after adding DeMarcus Cousins in free agency.

But Durant has clearly had problems acting under this bad-guy-label, which isn't a knock on him in any way. During his time with the Oklahoma City Thunder, he was considered one of the most genuine people in the game, which I can only attest to in the handful of encounters I've had with him.

This in no way suggests that he wants it nor is there anyone close to him even presenting such an idea.

But if there is any inkling that Durant will not take his player option in 2019 and would want to search for a new home, the Warriors, like any team, would have to think about trading him.

The return on him would be solid enough even with free agency looming and a more comfortable environment where he wouldn't be a pariah could coax him into re-signing with a hypothetical trade partner.

Could the New York

Knicks trade for Kevin Durant?

The Knicks are set to be major players in free agency next year, which is going to put them in the running with big names like Kyrie Irving and Jimmy Butler.

But Durant could be keen on joining the Knicks as well given the direction the organization is moving in.

In a far-less competitive Eastern Conference, which is set to be dominated by the Philadelphia 76ers and Boston Celtics, the Knicks will have pieces to at least be relevant in the Eastern Conference playoff picture next year with just Kristaps Porzingis and possibly Kevin Knox alone.

It is expected that New York will be a hot spot come next summer for free agents, but if the Knicks want to get the ball rolling early, they could at least kick the tires on Durant if there looks as though there will be any sort of rumblings of a split between him and Golden State. JOE PANTORO
